Connected ecosystem

Easier workflows and collaboration

Greater efficiency

- In-platform communication and workflows with Suppliers and the Warehouse removes email threads so companies can take actions faster
- Shipment documents are uploaded directly onto the platform and digitised, reducing the amount of time a company needs to stay up to date
- Exception reporting allows the team to focus only on shipments that need their attention

The screenshot shows a 'Transmission' interface with a table of shipment data. The table has three columns: 'Shipment ID', 'Pickup location', and 'Warehouse arrival date'. There are three rows of data, each with a blue shipment ID, a greyed-out pickup location, and a confirmed arrival date with a pencil icon for editing.

The background of the slide is a photograph of a shipping container yard. In the foreground, there are several tall stacks of colorful shipping containers in various colors including red, blue, orange, and purple. In the background, a large wave of white foam is crashing against a dark green sea. A white rounded rectangle is overlaid on the left side of the image, containing the text.
